It has been proposed that the NHS in Wales should concentrate services in fewer, larger hospitals, rather than provide services in larger numbers of smaller hospitals.

Supporters say that the NHS cannot afford to continue to pay for large numbers of local hospitals and bigger hospitals will provide more specialised and better quality care. Opponents say that this will disadvantage people who will have to travel further to get the care they need.

To what extent do you support or oppose this policy to concentrate services in fewer, larger hospitals?
